

Online Course Schedule

Spring 2021

[Dates noted in Schedule]

Online Session 1 | January 11-March 5

Introduction to Humanities [AR210]

Dr. Darryl Meekins

Explore the humanities through the examination and discussion of select artistic, literary and philosophic works of Western civilization. Students will exercise hermeneutic, critical thinking and communication skills, while uncovering the power of these works and texts to express and/or form a worldview. Ultimately, students will confront their own worldviews in light of these competing visions of reality in order to better understand, embrace and share the Christian worldview.

Principles of Bible Study [BI100]

CSU Staff

Gain an introduction to various tools of Bible study and a methodical and inductive approach to study of the Scriptures, basic laws, and principles of interpretation. This course includes opportunities to practice using the tools, methods, and principles.

Bible Survey [BI111]

Paul Golden

Survey the Old and New Testament. Major dates, events, characters, theological passages and themes are studied from Genesis to Revelation.

Academic and Researched Writing [EN121]

Britney Sewall

Learn and develop your ability to communicate clearly and effectively in written and spoken word. Emphasis is on academic writing style, employing rhetorical strategies and the processes for researching and writing.

World Religions [EV220]

Dr. Paul McGuinness

Take a survey of the history, doctrine and philosophy of major non-Christian belief systems. The presentation of the gospel to meet the unique needs of each group will be emphasized. An analysis of each belief system in reference to its cultural, political and geographical setting is developed. World religions studies and analyzes other religious systems in a systematic manner. Also, appropriate evangelistic methods for each religion/worldview will be considered.

History of Western Civilization & Thought I [HI111]

Susan Cagley

Get an introduction to the seminal events, ideas, thinkers, and works of our Western civilization. The primary means of investigation will be direct interaction with poetic, philosophic, and historical texts in the light of divine revelation granted in Scripture. Underlying ideas, which influence deeds, will be the focus in the examination of the flow of history and thought from the creation account in Genesis through the Greco-Roman World to the beginning of the Modern Era (approximately 1600).

American History II [HI206]

David Muse

Survey the history of the United States from the end of the Reconstruction Era (1877) to the present. Attention is focused on the social, intellectual and cultural threads of American history.

Living Well [HP101]

Sherrie Holloway

Gain a better understanding of the mechanics and components of fitness and wellness as it relates to the biblical principle of body stewardship. The intent of this course is to help each student realize and practice the value and role of wellness on a philosophical, physiological, psychological and personal level.

American Literature II [LI222C]

Carleigh Smith

Survey three major literary movements that have occurred since the Civil War: Realism, Modernism, and Postmodernism. Examine the development of American thought revealed in these great works. This writing-intensive course requires reading, discussion, and critical thinking. Readings will center on primary works and writing assignments will predominantly consist of literary analysis.

Worldviews: Humanities and Science [PH206]Scott Hicks

Take an interdisciplinary examination of worldviews with the humanities with an emphasis on the role of science. Look at modern science through the lenses of history, philosophy, religion and popular culture to understand the nature of science and its proper place in our lives. Note: This course is an upper level course normally taken after completion of Science, Bible, and Theology classes.
